—One marriage license was issued yesterday to that of Geo. A. Carpenter and Mary A. Tucker, both of Madison county, Va.

—Mrs. Frank Golden returned to the city Wednesday evening from the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs much improved in health.

—There is an old colored couple residing on M street south, who are so old that they have forgotten who they are and where they came from.

—Under the able administration of Manager George W. Phillips many handsome improvements have been made at the Ferry Company's wharf.

—Dr. George P. Fenwick is erecting a substantial dwelling-house on Sixth street, opposite St. Dominic's church. Mr. S. B. Beyer is the architect and builder.

—As the schools are about to reopen parents are obliged to make purchases of books, and attention is called to the great reductions in the price of school books at Stillington's bookstore.

—The attention of Engineer Horie is called to the necessity of erecting lamp-posts on E street, between Seventh and Eleventh streets southwest, an improvement desired and much needed.

—Benjamin Cook was in the Police Court yesterday, charged with vagrancy. He was released on his personal recognizance upon the promise that he would leave the city.

—On account of changing the draw of the Long bridge, the draw of the train run between this city and Alexandria is now. All trains, however, will resume their regular trips after 6 o'clock on Monday morning.

—In reference to an article in yesterday's Republican regarding the amount of a Capital Hill husband and wife, it is stated that the interested state that there is nothing improper about the relations between the two, and that the widow is above reproach.

—Three clerks in the Quartermaster General's office have had their premises invaded this week, and the Howard Edwards, a pigman and chicken, R. J. Woodbury of chickens and guinea hens, and John M. Graham of his crop of pears and peaches.

—Mary Allen, through her counsel, Mrs. Yruga and Wright, has filed a bill for divorce from her husband, John H. Allen. They were married in this District on October 15, 1866, by the Rev. John Totten. She charges him with cruelty and drunkenness.

—Yesterday afternoon two colored men got into a quarrel at the Centre market over some peaches, one of them claiming that the other was not full measure. Mr. Hawkins, the owner of the peaches, struck Dennis Handy over the head with a peck measure, and inflicted quite a severe cut.

—The occupant of No. 508 Thirteenth street requested correction of the statement of the number made in the article under caption, "A Capital Hill Husband," which appeared in yesterday's issue. "William H. H." had not engaged rooms for his widow at that house, but had rooms at Bulfinch's, No. 510 Thirteenth street northwest.

—An investigation is being made into the death of an infant son of a colored woman named Berry, No. 936 E street southwest, which died Thursday evening under suspicious circumstances. Dr. H. A. Jones, who was called in after the death, declined to grant a burial certificate. He could find no traces of disease, and suspected foul play. The child, which was illegitimate, was seven months old.

—James Jackson appeared at the bar of the Police Court yesterday, charged with stealing a long weighing two hundred pounds, and valued at $20, from Mr. Joseph Weirick, on the 20th of August. The porker was stolen from Mr. Weirick's residence, on North Capitol street, and was valued at $25. Jackson, since his arrest, has been in the hands of the police, but, as there was another case of theft against him, was suspended until today.

—Ross Graham, Molly Thomas and Chas. Grant assaulted Mary Smith a few days ago, and yesterday afternoon she appeared before Judge Humphreys, charged with assault and battery. Each pleaded not guilty, and accused the others of committing the assault. The judge, after hearing the evidence, since Ross Graham is a constable, Molly Thomas $1, and Charles Grant $10.

—The full term of the Washington Conservatory of Music will begin next Monday. Prof. O. B. Bullard, the director, has increased his facilities for training scholars in music and elocution, and no finer advantages are offered anywhere than at his conservatory. The elegant music hall, at No. 432 Ninth street, is worth visiting. The board of instruction includes some of the leading musicians and vocalists of the city.

—Daniel Wells, of Georgetown, Wednesday night, filled himself full of bad whiskey, went to his home, in Congress alley, Georgetown, and commenced cursing and swearing. He was arrested by a constable, and taken to the Police Court, where he was committed to the work-house for thirty days.

—William Baker was in the Police Court yesterday to answer the charge of selling liquor without license at a picnic given on Annapolis Island. The defendant was allowed to make a statement, and said that Mr. McLaughlin was the proprietor of the bar, and allowed him to use it on the occasion of a picnic. The bar was licensed in the name of Mr. McLaughlin, and the defendant was charged with selling liquor without license. The court decided he was guilty, and fined him $5, and in default, sent him to the work-house for thirty days.

—The suggestion in Thursday's Republican to select a District Commissioner from South Washington should not be changed, and is favorably regarded by many of our best citizens. At present, conjectures are rife as to who should be chosen in view of such an important office. Among those prominently mentioned are William A. Stephenson, Lewis W. Wright and School Trustee George White. Each of these gentlemen possess fine business qualifications, and is in many particulars fitted to discharge the duties of the position.

—The case of Nicholas Brown, charged with removing gravel and sand from the reservation between Second and Third streets and Virginia and South Carolina avenues, was called in the Police Court yesterday, when his employer, Mr. Thomas E. Barnes, testified that Brown was in his employ, and that he directed him to remove the gravel from the above-named square; that he obtained permission from Capt. Stone, Gen. Babcock's assistant superintendent of public works, and gravel, to remove the same, and that he had the uninterrupted privilege for the past three years and had hauled more than a thousand loads from the reservation. The judge held that the defendant, if he had such a privilege, should produce a written permit, which he was unable to do, and he was required to pay a fine of five dollars.

—The Michigan State Association, whose political disabilities were removed last month, held its regular monthly meeting last night at Beck's hall. Mr. E. N. Howell presided, and T. Bowen acted as secretary. After the transaction of the routine business, Messrs. M. L. Higgins, W. H. Barton and Capt. A. J. Lyon severally addressed the association in well-timed remarks, though, strange as it may seem, no word was said about politics. However, they talked at length about the latter matter. Notwithstanding the law, the Michigan boys had a good time.

—John Meehan was before Judge Mills yesterday charged with vagrancy. He was committed to the Police Court, where he was held until today. The judge, after hearing the evidence, since Meehan was charged with vagrancy, and was unable to produce a written permit, he was committed to the Police Court, where he was held until today.

—Johna Jarvis alias Semkins, an aged colored man with gray hair, who having arrived at the age of discretion, should have known better than to trespass upon the grounds of the Soldiers' Home, and destroy the grass, flowers and plants. He did so, however, and was booked yesterday in the Police Court for a term of thirty days in the county jail. On receiving his sentence he remarked to the judge: "Judge, I've done this here before in the old days, but I never got caught before. Now I'm in the trap again, so help me, Bob!"

—The attention of Engineer Horie is called to the necessity of erecting lamp-posts on E street, between Seventh and Eleventh streets southwest, an improvement desired and much needed.

—Benjamin Cook was in the Police Court yesterday, charged with vagrancy. He was released on his personal recognizance upon the promise that he would leave the city.

WANTING ALIMONY

WHILE SUING AN UNFAITHFUL HUSBAND FOR DIVORCE.

MRS. MITCHELL'S DESISTENCE STATE-MENT ORDERED TO PAY HER HUSBAND $100 PER MONTH AND $500 PER ANNUM IN RENTING A PIANO FOR LADY FRIENDS AN UNPAID WASH BILL.

The famous and probably infamous divorce suit of R. W. C. Mitchell v. Laura E. Mitchell, occupied the attention of Justice Olin, sitting on the bench yesterday in the Equity Court, for half an hour.

The counsel on both sides have been busy engaged since the filing of the first bill, and in subsequent docketing of the cross-bill, in preparing an array of affidavits as to whether the husband or wife is the proper party to sue. The husband, who is a well-to-do merchant, and the wife, who is a well-to-do merchant, are both well-to-do merchants, and the husband is a well-to-do merchant, and the wife is a well-to-do merchant.
